For their customer convenient they have 9 ways to pay their bills. In each and every level Bharti Airtel try to give the best services as for the need of the customer and try to build the effective relationship with the customers. They are focus on different level of the customer; it is analyses from the data mining systems because this system is very useful for the classification of customer as well as information.

1. INTRODUCTION AND CONCEPTUAL FRAME WORK

Customer relationship management is a strategy of every organization. They play an important role to make the customer relationship strategically and for the growth of the organization. Customer relationship management (CRM) is a widely implemented model for managing a company's interactions with customers, clients, and sales prospects. It involves using technology to organize, automate, and synchronize business processes—principally sales activities, but also those for marketing, customer service, and technical support. Customer relationship management describes a company-wide business strategy including customer-interface departments as well as other departments. Measuring and valuing customer relationships is critical to implementing this strategy. Customer service (also known as Client Service) is the provision of service to the customers before, during and after a purchase. A Customer Relationship Management system may be chosen because it is thought to provide the advantages like Quality and efficiency, Decrease in overall costs and Increase Profitability. Customer service is normally an integral part of a company's customer value proposition.

SEGMENTATION ISSUES

Basic segmentation issues need to be addressed to determine if viable segment exist and can be identified; otherwise there may be more profitable avenues for the firm to pursue.

"Attracting and keeping the highest-value customers is the corner stone of a successful marketing program". Underlying this statement is the necessary condition that the market can be segmented and that identifiable segments vary from the customer value.

BHARTI AIRTEL LIMITED NETWORK SERVICE

Bharti Airtel Limited is a leading global telecommunications company with operations in 19 countries across Asia and Africa. In rest of the geographies it offers mobile voice & high speed wireless internet. Bharti Airtel has been ranked among the six best performing technology companies in the world by BusinessWeek. Bharti Airtel had over 238 million customers across its operations at the end of October 2011. Bharti Airtel recognized for the delivery of best network services with customer focus at Telecom Centre of Excellence Awards 2011. New Delhi, December 11, 2011: Bharti Airtel, a leading global telecommunications company with operations in 19 countries across Asia and Africa has been awarded with "Telecom Centre of Excellence (TCOE) Award" for service provider with customer focus for best delivery of Network Services - for the year 2011. The evaluation criteria were primarily focused on Network Quality of service KPIs, Network Coverage, Product Innovation and Network Bench-marking processes based on network parameters and customer voice. The award is recognition of Airtel's commitment to offer best in class service experience to its customers.

The Quality of the Telecom services offered to subscribers directly affects the demand for such services and is therefore a key determinant of the overall health of the Indian Telecom Sector. Quality of Service and customer focus can also serve as an important differentiation platform for operators. Keeping this in mind, Bharti Airtel had formulated and implemented an unique state of the art program called 'Best Customer Network Experience' cutting across 23 circles to provide a superior customer experience by improving the poor performing pockets and the performance of the network elements. Bharti Airtel recently implemented Customer Experience Management System (CEM) to optimize and enrich user experience of its customers.

2. AIRTEL WITH CRM

CRM has created magic at Bharti Airtel. Before customer relation management only 40 percent of customer issues got resolved but after the proper implementation of customer relationship management 90 percent issues got resolved. The Three Step Program changed is for Bharti Airtel and made them what they are today. Technology evaluation and Gap analysis, Internal restructuring and Re- engineering and Pilot program and Feedback cycle. Major cost goals of CRM include: 1. Increase revenue growth through customer satisfaction, 2. Reduce costs of sales and distribution and 3. Minimize customer support costs.

3. REVIEW OF LITERATURE

Berry and Parsuraman (1991); Bitner (1995); Crosby and Stephens (1987); Crosby, et al. (1990); Gronroos (1995) the de-intermediation process and consequent prevalence of CRM is also due to the growth of the service economy. Since services are typically produced and delivered at the same institutions, it minimizes the role of the middlemen. A greater emotional bond between the service provider and the service users also develops the need for maintaining and enhancing the relationship.

Bickert, (1992) Another narrow, yet relevant, viewpoint is to consider CRM only as customer retention in which a variety of after marketing tactics is used for customer bonding or staying in touch after the sale is made

CRM is "Customer selectivity". As several research studies have shown not all customers are equally profitable for an individual company (Storbacka, 2000). The company therefore must be selective in tailors its program and marketing efforts by segmenting and selecting appropriate customers for individual marketing programs. In some cases, it could even lead to "outsourcing of some customers" so that a company better utilize its resources on those customers it can serve better and create mutual value. However, the objective of a company is not to really prune its customer base but to identify appropriate programs and methods that would be profitable and create value for the firm and the customer.

4. OBJECTIVES OF THE STUDY

1. To analysis the customer relationship management in AIRTEL.
2. To identify the fissures and faults/deficiencies in the existing customer service strategies.
3. Improve the service without increasing cost of service.
4. To improve the organizations ability to retain and acquire the customer.

5. RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

Since the population for the study is quite large and since the study is limited by the constraints of resources and time, complete enumeration of the population by census method was not possible. Random sampling technique was used for this study. The sample size comprises 300 respondents. The sample description includes customers of Airtel in both prepaid and postpaid sections. The youth segment was taken as the respondents because they are more prone to switch to different service providers and usually they are the trendsetters. Hence it is our strong belief if we could develop strategies to retain them; it's easier to retain the other segments too.

Data has been collected from various sources; there is a combination of both primary and secondary data that has been used in this research. To arrange and interpret the collected data the following statistical tools Chi-Square Analysis and ANOVA were used.
