1. INTRODUCTION

uman resource management (HRM) practices are most effective when matched with strategic goals of organizations. HRM's role in the company's success is growing rapidly with the growth in many sectors in the present globalized era. HRM is a vital function in organizations and becoming more important than ever. The HRM practices are crucial in designing the structure for man power, staffing, performance appraisal, compensation, and training and development. HRM practices are a primary means for defining, communicating and rewarding desired role behaviors and desired role behaviors are a function of organizational characteristics. Innovative HRM practices can play a crucial role in changing the attitude of the companies and its employees in order to facilitate the entry and growth in the markets. The HRM practices in service sector especially in the area of retailing have found significant importance in the present scenario. The retailing is one of the service sectors where the need of qualitative human resources is highly expected.

Retailing is an important element of business around the globe. Retailing consists of all activities that result in the offering for sale of merchandise to consumers for their own use. Retailing is the final step in bringing goods to consumer. They sell both goods and services. Retailing is the process of "Sale of goods or merchandise, from a fixed location such as a departmental store or kiosk, in small or individual lots for direct consumption by the purchaser.

Buyers may be individuals or businesses; a retailer buys goods or products in large quantities from manufacturers or importers, either directly or through a wholesaler, and then sells in smaller quantities or lots to the end –users or consumers. Retailers are the end links of the supply chain as an important part of manufacturing/marketer overall distribution strategy.

1.1 OVERVIEW OF INDIAN RETAIL INDUSTRY

Retailing is one of the pillars of economy because of its 13% contribution to GDP. Though the Indian retail sector is dominated by unorganized sector with 90% share, it is providing immense opportunities for large scale retailers to set-up their operations. The organized retailing sector is steadily increasing with the entry and operations of departmental stores, hyper markets, supermarkets and specialty stores which are replacing the traditional formats dramatically altering the retailing landscape in India. India is the third most attractive retail market for global retailers among the 30 largest emerging markets, according to US consulting group AT Kearney's report published in June, 2010. The total retail sales in India will grow from US $ 395.96 billion in 2011 to US $ 786.12 billion by 2015, according to the BMI India Retail report from the third quarter of 2011. Robust economic growth, high disposable income with the expansion in middle and upper class consumer because, the report identifies potential in India's tier-II and tier-III cities as well. The greater availability of personal credit and a growing vehicle population providing improved mobility also contribute to a trend towards annual retail sales growth of 12.2 percent. An increasing number of people in India are turning to the services sector for employment due to the relative low compensation offered by the traditional agriculture and manufacturing sectors. The organized retail market is growing at 35 percent annually while growth of unorganized retail sector is pegged at 6 percent. Though the retailing sector is growing rapidly, some of the constrains are restricting its growth.
