A STUDY ON ATM CARDS AND MODES OF DIGITAL PAYMENTS IN BANKS

Dr. NEERAJ KUMAR SADDY HEAD P.G. DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE R. K. ARYA COLLEGE NAWANSHAHR (S.B.S. NAGAR)

ABSTRACT

The banking system in India is facing challenges with stiff competition and advancement of technology. Now a day's Banks are providing more and more ATMs servicing as transaction device. ATMs can be used as an advertising channel for business companies to advertise their own products or third-party products and services. In the present research paper attempt is made to study the no. of ATMs in India and also various modes for digital payments used in commercial banks. ATM card, popularly known as a bank card, enables a customer to perform banking tasks at ATMs and make point-of-sale transactions. In some countries still cash is highly used but instead of this trend towards digital payment methods are increased. Cash is preferred due to zero cost on transactions and because it is the first preference of some customers', although the retaining, collecting, transporting and processing of cash by banks and other financial institutions have become increasingly costly. All traders who accepting digital payment methods, all of them accept debit cards, online payments and many also accept mobile payments. The advantages of digital payment methods for merchants/ traders are instant payment, quick transactions and reliability, simple of use for both customer and dealers. It is easily also providing a traceable proof of payment for both of them.

SPIRITUALITY IN ORGANISATIONS (A CASE STUDY OF BHAVAN'S VIVEKANANDA COLLEGE OF SCIENCE, HUMANITIES AND COMMERCE, SAINIKPURI)

ABSTRACT

Spirituality in Organisations refer to holistic development of employees in an organisation. This can be achieved by establishing trust, confidence, morality, loyalty and competitive spirit amongst employees. In order to set up spirituality in organisations a value-based system shall be adopted. The boundaries of such set up would definitely increase the mutual trust among the employees and seek growth and development of an institution. Spirituality involves acknowledging employee's integral role with a purposeful evolution of life within the organisations. Exploring universal concepts like love, compassion, wisdom, and truth is central to spirituality. This exploration is accompanied by an awareness that certain individuals, like saints or enlightened beings, have attained and demonstrated heightened levels of development compared to the average person. Such organizations foster a cultural awareness that recognizes the dual aspects of individuals – their intellectual capacity and spiritual essence. The concept emphasizes by engaging in meaningful work which contributes to a sense of purpose and connection with fellow human beings and also cultivates a communal spirit within the organizational context. The present study is undertaken to establish an association between the practicing spirituality in organisation and overall personality growth and enhanced performance among peer group. In this context Bhavan's Vivekananda College is taken as a case study which provides an intellectual and spiritual practices on regular basis to the peer group through a spiritual organisation, Vivekananda Institute of Human excellence.

ABOUT THE JOURNAL

In this age of Commerce, Economics, Computer, I.T. & Management and cut throat competition, a group of intellectuals felt the need to have some platform, where young and budding managers and academicians could express their views and discuss the problems among their peers. This journal was conceived with this noble intention in view. This journal has been introduced to give an opportunity for expressing refined and innovative ideas in this field. It is our humble endeavour to provide a springboard to the upcoming specialists and give a chance to know about the latest in the sphere of research and knowledge. We have taken a small step and we hope that with the active cooperation of like-minded scholars, we shall be able to serve the society with our humble efforts.
