ABSTRACT

Micro insurance is generally, but inaccurately referred to as a new concept. It first appeared as a new financial service within micro finance and developed in to a sector of its own. The term micro insurance was first published around 1999 and in the development environment, defining it has been subject of much debate and discussion. Micro insurance has been defined as a mechanism to protect poor people against risk (accident, illness, death in the family, natural disasters) in exchange for insurance premium payments tailored to their needs, income and level of risk. The major players in micro insurance include Life Insurance Corporation, Industrial Credit and Investment Corporation of India (ICICI) prudential life insurance company Limited, Birla sun life insurance company Limited, State Bank of India (SBI) life insurance company Limited, Allianz Bajaj Life Insurance Company Limited, Metlife India insurance company private Limited, Aviva life insurance company India Limited, Sahara India Life Insurance, Shriram life insurance company. The study gave importance to various micro insurance products offered by Life Insurance Corporation in Kerala to protect the lives of low income people. Secondary sources are used to collect required data for the study. The study revealed that Life Insurance Corporation has a major role in micro insurance sector to protect the lives of poor people.

INTRODUCTION

The concept of insurance dates back to around 3000 BC in China where merchants and their investors shared the risks of goods lost when shipping overseas. A similar concept evolved in Babylon; the Greeks and Romans introduced the origins of health and life insurance around 600 BC when they created benevolent societies which cared for the families of deceased members. England's first fire insurance company was launched following the Great fire of London in 1666. At the same time, Mr .Edward Lloyd opened a coffee house that was a popular haunt for those in the maritime industry and became a meeting place for those wishing to insure ships and cargoes .Thus Lloyd's of London was established .At the end of the 17 th century, the first mortality table was created, which marked the first step in the development of modern life insurance.

MICRO INSURANCE

The term micro insurance first appeared as a new financial service within micro finance. Micro insurance typically refers to insurance services offered to low income people in order to protect them against specific risk. It is a means of protection against specific risks in exchange for a regular payment of premium. The amount of premium payable is proportional to the likelihood and cost of the relevant risks. The term micro insurance was first published around 1999. It can be defined as a risk transfer device characterised by low premiums and low coverage limits ,and designed for low income people not served by typical social insurance schemes. (Micro Insurance Academy, India, 2007)

Delivery of micro insurance products to clients is one of the great challenge for micro insurance. For offering micro insurance, four main methods include

- 1) Partner agent model
- 2) Provider driven model
- 3) Full service model
- 4) Community based model

PARTNER AGENT MODEL

Asper this model, a partnership is formed between micro insurance scheme and an agent .Delivery and marketing of products to the client is the responsibility of micro insurance scheme. Agent has the responsibility for design and development. Asper this model, micro insurance scheme have limited risk and also limited control.

FULL SERVICE MODEL

In full service model, micro insurance schemes have full control and also high risks so that micro insurance scheme is in charge of everything. Micro insurance scheme has the responsibility to design and delivery of products to the clients .Micro insurance scheme works with external health care providers to provide the services.

COMMUNITY BASED OR MUTUAL MODEL

Policy holders works with external health care providers to offer services. They have the responsibility to managing and owning the operations.

PROVIDER DRIVEN MODEL

Asper provider driven model, the health care provider is the micro insurance scheme.

LIFE INSURANCE CORPORATION OF INDIA

Life Insurance Corporation of India (LIC) is an Indian state owned insurance group. It is an investment company headquartered in Mumbai. It is the largest insurance company in India .The Company was founded in 1956 when the Parliament of India passed the Life Insurance of India Act. The Act nationalised the private insurance industry in India. Inorder to create the state owned Life Insurance Corporation, 245 insurance companies and provident societies were merged. LIC offers a variety of insurance products to its customers such as insurance plans, pension plans, unit-linked plans, special plans and group schemes. The micro-insurance portfolio has made steady progress. Many life insurers have commenced their micro-insurance operations by introducing new products every year. The distribution infrastructure has also been considerably strengthened. Micro-insurance business was procured largely under the group portfolio. Life Insurance Corporation of India (LIC) contributed the most both in terms of policies sold and number of micro-insurance agents. With the notification of the Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority (Micro-insurance) Regulations 2005, there has been a steady improvement in the design of products catering to the needs of the poor people. The flexibilities provided in the regulations allow the insurers to provide package products. With the approval of the Authority, now Insurance companies are offering approved general insurance products as micro-insurance products if the sum assured for the product is within the range prescribed for micro-insurance.LIC leveraged its expertise through individual endowment micro insurance products. Being experienced in selling low premium individual products, LIC did not have to take the easy credit-life way to sell micro insurance. While it provided credit-life covers through group insurance products, for individual segment, LIC launched an endowment life micro insurance product named Jeevan Madhur.

VARIOUS MICRO INSURANCE PLANS / PRODUCTS OFFERED BY LIC

- Janashree Bima Yojana,

CONCLUSION

Agriculture is a volatile business. For large portions of the world population, agriculture is the main source of income. In this complex environment, farmers face a number of constraints and to reduce uncertainty and risk they depend on micro insurance products. Insurance is not an end in itself. Insurance is only a means to an end. Micro insurance is only one component of a well balanced disaster risk management strategy. Various factors which demand the need for micro insurance not only limited to agriculture but also health, death, theft or fire, disability and so on. In order to overcome the risk of all these sectors which are faced by low income people, various micro insurance players come in to the mainstream. LIC has a major role in reducing uncertainty and risks by offering various micro insurance products. It provides a practical option for low income households to protect against adverse events and it also act as a tool for governments to promote economic development and also industrial development.

ABOUT THE JOURNAL

In this age of Commerce, Economics, Computer, I.T. & Management and cut throat competition, a group of intellectuals felt the need to have some platform, where young and budding managers and academicians could express their views and discuss the problems among their peers. This journal was conceived with this noble intention in view. This journal has been introduced to give an opportunity for expressing refined and innovative ideas in this field. It is our humble endeavour to provide a springboard to the upcoming specialists and give a chance to know about the latest in the sphere of research and knowledge. We have taken a small step and we hope that with the active co-operation of like-minded scholars, we shall be able to serve the society with our humble efforts.
