ABSTRACT

Education is the most important and crucial element for a growth of a country and discernibly significant for developing economies. A well-educated human resource contributes substantially to the economic, social and technological development of a country. However, India is witnessing serious dearth of skilled manpower in various industries. According to the 'Employment and Unemployment Survey 2012', India's official unemployment rate is 3.8 percent, with rural areas having an unemployment rate of 3.4 percent and urban areas having an unemployment rate of 5 percent. Further, according to NASSCOM, each year over 3 million graduates and post-graduates are added to the Indian workforce. However, of these only 25 percent of technical araduates and 10-15 percent of other graduates are considered employable by the rapidly growing IT and ITES segments. Work placements are a valuable way of helping students to develop work related skills and are highly regarded by potential employers. Those students unable to secure a work placement can be disadvantaged when competing with those who have undertaken placements. Even those students returning from an industrial placement may have gained variable experience due to the wide diversity in the placement experience. Therefore, the provision of department-based activities designed to develop employability skills and career awareness can be justified for all students. Hence, what we today face is growing skill gap between skills required and skills provided. Sensing the need Smart Skills, a company based at Haldwani (Nainital), a venture of professionals having hands on experience Industry experience in Automotive and allied industries and corporate training, came with an innovative idea of providing the schools drop out youth employment as a part of their corporate social responsibility, as an innovative program conducted jointly with the industry. Core strengths of the company being corporate training, curriculum design, delivery and imparting practical training. The Company with active support to the idea from TATA Motors developed an Industry specific curriculum to train the drop out youth for TATA Motors. On the other hand it collaborated with Uttarakhand Open University to get the syllabus approved and program certified so that the student gets climbing the education ladder while learning and working. This case documents the success of this model of collaboration, distinct from pure academic university's conventional education, bringing together higher education institution and employers, with an aim to solve youth employment problem for the State in particular and country at large. The program has then been started by Ashok Leyland, TVS group and Rane Madras and Maruti Suzuki India Ltd has signed MoU for starting the first trail batch for them with 60 students. This case may help the learners to understand about industry specific human resource needs, tailor made courses which includes business expectation in higher education institution and above all participation of corporate leaders with education institutions as a step towards Corporate Social Responsibility and creating new workforce.

ABSTRACT

India and Russia have considerable linkages in trade and economic cooperation. Friendly relations between the two countries have existed from the foundation of the Russian Federation as an independent state in December 1991, and much before that. However, trade between the two countries has not improved substantially between 1992 and 2006. On this foundation, following the signing of the Memorandum on Co-operation between the Ministry of Economic Development and Trade of the Russian Federation and the Ministry of Commerce and Industry of India, by H.E. Mr. Kamal Nath, Minister of Commerce and Industry of India and H.E Mr. G. O. Gref, Minister of Economic Development and Trade of the Russian Federation, a Joint Study Group (JSG) was set up between India and Russia to work out a programme for enhancing the bilateral trade to USD 10 billion by 2010 and to explore the possibilities of a Comprehensive Economic Cooperation Agreement (CECA) between both the countries. To fulfill the appraisal of Indo-Russian trade dynamics the researcher has framed the objective- To evaluate Indo-Russian trade performance. For this purpose researcher considered various economic reports of the Indian and Russian government related with Indo-Russian trade. In this research paper the researcher used only secondary data. The duration of the data is 2003-2006 because of no research has been done till now for mentioned year data but included in various studies. That is why the researcher selects those years' data for this research paper.

ABSTRACT

General Practitioners (GPs) encountered the psychiatric morbidity be ranging between 10% to 36% and General Hospital outpatients encountered 27%. The study was conducted with the aims to study the socio-demographic aspect of GPs, to know the knowledge of GPs towards the mental health illness, to study the practice of GPs with Psychiatric problems or disorders. Study was Cross-Sectional study conducted in city Vadodara during January 2011 to July 2012. Study included all General Practitioners with of only M.B.B.S degree and active in practice. There were total 310 GPs in Vadodara city at the time of study, out of that 255 male and 55 female GPs active in the practice at the time of study. Training/CME did improve significantally the knowledge of GP for psychiatric illnesses. Study did not find significant realtion between gender of GPs, Duration of practice & interest in Psychiatric branch with knowledge of GPs for Psychiatric illness. Less importance given on psychiatric subject during undergraduate and internship period of MBBS. This develops negative attitude towards psychiatric subject. This negative attitude naturally reflects during the clinical practice of General Practitioners. So there is need to bridge this gap. This gap can be bridge with various activities like Continue Medical Education (CME), Training, and short course for interested GPs.

EDUCATIONAL STATUS OF SCHEDULED TRIBES IN COIMBATORE DISTRICT

DR. R. ANNAPOORANI PROFESSOR DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMICS AVINASHILINGAM INSTITUTE FOR HOME SCIENCE & HIGHER EDUCATION FOR WOMEN COIMBOTORE

M.SHANTHI RESEARCH SCHOLAR DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMICS AVINASHILINGAM INSTITUTE FOR HOME SCIENCE & HIGHER EDUCATION FOR WOMEN COIMBOTORE

ABSTRACT

Education is the key factor in accelerating the pace of development of any society. The tribal people are considered as a distinct ethnic group because of their peculiar socio cultural traditions and economic practices. Being inhabitants of remote rural areas, deep forests or hilly regions, the tribal people remained by and large unaffected in all walks of life by the outside World and they were declared educationally backward. In India, many research attempts were directed at analysing the tribal education. But there have been limited effort focused on analyzing educational status of scheduled tribes in Coimbatore. Hence, an effort was made to study the 'Educational status of scheduled tribes in Coimbatore District' with the basic objectives of studying the educational status of tribal population in terms of enrolment, dropout, and retention rate; finding out the attitude of the head of the family towards male and female tribal education; identifying the determinants of demand for tribal education and recommend measures to promote tribal education. The study was related to 100 tribal households in Tholampalayam village in Karamadai block of Coimbatore district of Tamil Nadu. The study was related to the time period of 2008 - 2009. The details relating to enrolment, dropout, retention and problems in education were collected by administering an interview schedule to the head of the households. The study attempted a logit analysis to identify the determinants of tribal education and found that the important determinants of demand for education of scheduled tribes were father's education, father's occupation and mother's occupation. To improve the educational status of tribal students the study recommends that there is a need for establishing more number of schools within the locality and greater awareness has to be created about the importance of education through mass media and also with the help of non-governmental agencies.

REVEALED COMPARATIVE ADVANTAGE AND TRADE FLOWS AMONG SAARC COUNTRIES: AN ANALYSIS

ABSTRACT

South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation (SAARC) came in to existence with the objective of promoting greater regional coordination in economic, social, and cultural issues among members of south Asia. Even after two and a half decade of existence, it did not achieve the desired result and the intra regional trade share remained low for long time. For a Regional Trade Agreement to become successful the members of the group should have a complementary trade structure. The paper used trade indices such as Trade Intensity Index (TII), Revealed Comparative Advantage (RCA) and Trade Competitiveness Index to identify complementary and competing sector of trade within the region. The analysis showed that there are complementary sectors available for greater trade cooperation between members of SAARC. It is also important that two largest members of SAARC namely India and Pakistan should enhance their trade cooperation for making the RTA dynamic. Also infrastructure facilities such as border roads, ports, communication, freight corridors should be built for trade facilitation. India being the dominant member of the SAARC should take the leadership role and extend the unilateral trade liberalisation to give benefit to smaller players. South Asian Free Trade Area can become dynamic and prominent in an era when South Asian economies are witnessing rapid industrialisation and economic progress. It requires concerted efforts from all members towards greater economic cooperation and a sense of belongingness for the shared economic prosperity of the region.

ABSTRACT

A Work-life balance (WLB) is all about the individuals having a complete control of work. It is accomplished when an individual feels dually satisfied about their personal life and their paid occupation. In its broadest sense, it is defined as a satisfactory level of involvement or 'fit' between the multiple roles in a person's life. Increasing work pressure, globalization and technological advancement have made it difficult for the bank employees to achieve work-life balance. In this context, paper highlights the key stressors in banking sector and emphasized the need of work-life balance by suggesting measures to overcome imbalances with the support of secondary data.

SHIBU ITTY MATHEW ASST. PROFESSOR MAR ATHANASIOS COLLEGE FOR ADVANCED STUDIES TIRUVALLA

ABSTRACT

Privatization has now become a widespread concern for the people living in the society. They explore its ramifications whether it fetches the efficiency into the system of our economy and can it put for the well being and welfare of the people and the society as an intact. In our country, there are a large number of business organizations which are either financing with the Government support or they make money from their own exchequer. Undeniably, there come to pass a question that which is the best for the Indian economy and for the well wishes of the Indians. In this milieu, some business professionals and academicians are on the track of Government organizations and socialism but there are still some professionals they are totally in good turn of the privatization. In this perspective, it will be better to probe the consequences of privatization for the growth of the nation. Privatization is not as such a solution to creativity but we should figure out the root cause of the assertion for privatization. Now a day, the people are more satisfied with the services of the private organizations and no longer they will consider the government institutions for their services. In private organizations the employees are more concentrating on their work as their salaries and incentives are on basis of the work they put forward. But in government organizations the salary is not an issue as it is provided by the government. In the framework of this research paper, some factors have been identified in order to sense the gap analysis in between the private and the government organizations. The factors for the study are employee morality, growth opportunities, employer employee relationships, productivity of the employees, sales turnover of the company, political interference, disciplinary actions, employee concern, dispute settlement machinery, employee benefits, social responsibility of the organization, finance and capital structure of the organization.

CHALACHEW GETAHUN DESTA ASST. PROFESSOR DEPARTMENT OF GEOGRAPHY & ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES BAHIR DAR UNIVERSITY BAHIR DAR

ABSTRACT

Despite availability of ample empirical evidence on economic role of the urban informal sector to low income households of developing countries in general, evidence is limited in the Ethiopian context, and development programs and plans have failed to integrate the sector into the overall development effort. This study used household survey data to explore the role & characteristics of the informal sector in urban centers of Ethiopia. Data were analyzed using simple descriptive statistics such as means and percentages, and the results show that 1) informal sector employment significantly increased, 2) some production activities increased while others decreased, 3) shortage of capital was found to be the major factor limiting work participation in the sector, and the financing of the sector mainly came from informal sources, 4) the level of income per person varied sharply among the various sectors, and finally, many of the findings are not consistent with the conventional theory on urban economy and employment in general and the informal sector in particular.

ABSTRACT

India's share in the production has increased over the years and the country is now one of the largest producers of natural rubber in the world market. Hence, the present study explores the growth performance of natural rubber in India as well as major producing states in India (from 1981-82 to 2010-11), using by compound growth rate and co-efficient of variation. The study reveals that the growth and co-efficient of variation in tapped area, area, production and yield of natural rubber in India registered a significant and positive signs. While the growth in area and production in major producing states have been declining, the productivity has increased from 891 kg. per ha. to 1327 kg. per ha. during the study period. It is recommended that there should be forming a separate board for rubber at state level, through which, it may initiate the modernized strategies, introduce High Yield Varieties (HYV) of seedlings and sapling, creates awareness regarding technologies & marketing knowledge etc., among the planters.

ABSTRACT

Women's role is crucial in the family and household economy, yet women have not been given equal rights in social, political as well as economic fields. The necessity of improvement of status of women has been recognized all over the world as an important aspect of national progress and development. Keeping this fact in mind, the present study is a modest attempt to analyze the importance of common property resources on the life of the tribal women. The study also envisages constructing a household model of women participation on common property resource based activity using evidence from rural study area. Forest/ CPR based collection for daily household purposes completely depended on the females in the study area.

LOVE, COMPASSION AND SPIRITUALITY: A TRULY RELEVANT ETHOS IN MANAGEMENT AND BUSINESS ORGANISATIONS

GEETU SHARMA ASST. PROFESSOR SHREE ATAM VALLABH JAIN COLLEGE LUDHIANA

ABSTRACT

In business and organisations 'love' and/or 'spirituality' mean genuine compassion for humankind, with all that this implies. We are not talking about romance. Nor are we referring to god or religion, because while love and spirituality have to a degree been adopted by various religious organisations and beliefs, here love and spirituality do not imply or require a religious component or affiliation at all. Far from it anyone can love other people. And everyone is in their own way spiritual. Given that love (or spirituality, whatever your preference) particularly encompasses compassion and consideration for other people, it follows that spoiling the world somewhere, or spoiling the world for future generations, is not acceptable and is not a loving thing to do. Love in business and work means making decisions and conducting oneself in a way that cares for people and the world we live in. So why is love (or spirituality) such a neglected concept in business? It hasn't always been so (of which more later). There are increasing numbers of writers, gurus and now even a few business leaders who advocate greater love, compassion and spirituality in corporations. There are also various interpretations of these ideas about love and ethics, about compassion and spirituality. This is fine. It's normal for any significant concept to have several interpretations, and these reflect the different ways of applying the concept in different situations. Some interpretations have a compassionate or spiritual foundation; others are quite rightly incorporated within wider issues of corporate social responsibility and ethical business. Other ideas approach the concept from the environmental angle, or sustainability, or 'fair trade'. The challenge for modern managers and leaders to develop an interpretation of love and spirituality that will work for your own organisational situation

CLAUSE 49: AN ATTEMPT TO DISCIPLINE CORPORATE

SUVIT DAS ASST. PROFESSOR DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE HINDU KANYA COLLEGE KAPURTHALA

ABSTRACT

Clause 49 of Listing Agreement is a statutory regulatory authority for the securities market. Through this initiative, SEBI sought to bring a greater transparency in the operations of a listed company by enhancing the quality of disclosures, protect the interest of all shareholders and make the board and management more accountable and fair to the stakeholders, so that the company conducts its operations to create value for the shareholders. Corporate Governance is the new issue for Indian industry. It has assumed greater importance in the context of what has happened to companies like ENRON, XEROX WORLD.com etc. The basic rationale for high standards of corporate governance stems from inherent characteristics of corporate form of organization given the growth stock companies are obliged to raise the required capital from large no. of shareholders, which individually can't have any active participatory role in the management of organization. In this study, I begin by giving an introduction to Clause 49. Then, I have listed various frauds that have occurred in the last decade. Next, I have outlined the need of corporate governance for transparency. I have also listed various provisions of Clause 49 regarding the Board of Directors, Audit Committee etc. Also listed are various annexures that contain (a) information to be placed before Board of Directors (b) format of Quarterly Compliance Report on Corporate Governance in the annual report of Companies and (d) some non-mandatory requirements.

ABSTRACT

Although scholars argue that Sweden is merely a variant, albeit a highly developed variant of the Western Tradition, it is, nevertheless, the best example of a country in which cooperatives have a clear and official role to play, distinct from state and privately-owned companies. The Swedes are conservatives. They are conservative capitalists and conservative socialists. That kind of satisfaction does not lead to the attainment of new things, therefore, in terms of the graduation from the capitalist state to the cooperative state, it is unlikely that this will happen in Sweden. Nevertheless, it remains the country which currently offers the best mirror of what that state apparatus could be like.

QUALITY EDUCATION: ISSUES, CONCERNS AND CHALLENGES

BHAVNA JOSHI RESEARCH SCHOLAR MEWAR UNIVERSITY CHITTORGARH

ABSTRACT

Education being the social system of society plays a key role in moulding, shaping, reforming and reconstructing the society from time to time. It has been recognized and regarded as the potent instrument of social transformation of our modern society. Effectiveness of education is very much determined to the extent it has been able to achieve its goals .What happens in classrooms and other learning environments is vitally important to the future of our citizens, and indeed to the future of our republic. Education of acceptable quality must address basic learning needs; enrich the lives of learners and their overall experience of living and well being. According to UNESCO, there should be some guiding principles for planning and implementation of education. When learners are in an environment that provides possibilities for full participation of community as well as equal opportunities, then we can say that the education is of high quality. It is also of utmost importance that the curriculum is flexible enough to provide possibilities for adjustment to individual needs and to stimulate teachers to seek solutions that can be matched with the needs and abilities of each and every individual. Hence, there is a great need to think and implement the quality issues in education at different levels from different perspectives so that we can provide good education according to societal needs.

ABSTRACT

Internationalisation has become an integral part of higher education. Internationalisation is not only changing the provisions and modes of higher education but the whole concept of higher education itself. Various countries have approached internationalisation of higher education differently and have accordingly framed their policies. The first milestone of higher education's inclusion in GATS occurred in 1994 when the Framework Agreement was signed. Several WTO members made their commitments in the sub-sector higher education. One important issue that is related to internationalisation of higher education is that it is marked with "War for Talent". Various countries are tailor-making their immigration policies that are suitable for international students. Recent years, have witnessed enormous and consequential increase in international student mobility. Nearly 3 million students now study outside their home countries, a number that has risen steeply in a short period. The mobility of Indians is not limited to the U.S. and U.K. as it used to be a few decades back rather several countries such as Canada, Australia, Germany, France and New Zealand have also emerged as their favoured destination. However, it is neither necessary nor possible for higher education institutions to live in ivory towers in the face of internationalisation. But however it is still possible to use discretion that how a country should go about using internationalisation of higher education in the nation building. For a country like India internationalisation of higher education provides a mix of opportunities' and dangers appropriately explained by Buddhist proverb, "the key to gate of heaven is also the key which could open the gate of hell". Although different scholars are using terms like brain circulation, brain exchange and brain train to explain the patterns of student mobility due to internationalisation of higher education but even then the scenario in India is best explained by brain drain only.
